Vision, Mission, Aim & Goals

• Introduction

The Kundal village has the history of freedom movement also. The Founder of Gandhi Education Society, Kundal, and whose name is given to the college, Late Dr. Krantiagrani G. D. Bapu Lad is a freedom fighter and founder member of the Parallel-Government movement in Satara District. He worked with the chief Exponent of the movement and the Great Revolutionist Krantisinha Nana Patil. Still the end of his life, Late Dr. G. D. Bapu worked for the villagers only because of his continuous efforts, the whole Kundal became irrigated. Taking into consideration the changing need of the society and the world, with the helping hand of villagers, he has started Kranti Co-operative sugar Factory and made employment available to the Villagers. Many villagers have sacrificed their lives to make the country free. Kundal village where Revolution took place. This village had actively participated in 1942's 'Quit India movement' against the Britishers. The Institution is non-government organization but it is registered under the Public Trust Act and Bombay Act in 1949. (Rgistration No. 1749 of 1948-49). The Institution started one High-School named 'Pratinidhi High-School, Kundal and now the number went on 11 branches including Senior and Junior college. Nearly all villages and many teachers have the membership of the society. From their contributions the institution runs various social, educational schemes. Gandhi Education Society, Kundal took this need into consideration and Krantiagrani G. D. Bapu Lad Mahavidyalaya, Kundal was established in July 1998 as per Govt. of Maharashtra Resolution.
